A College Level Course Online!

The Ministry Training Institute, developed by John and Sonja Decker and used extensively to train missionaries and pastors globally, offers a College-level Course that places equal weight on the curriculum and the hands-on practicums. While the students get solid doctrinal training, they also get functional “real-world” practice. The key to lasting growth in our students is established through their practical application as they learn the material, referred to as practicums.

How Does The Program Work?

The Ministry Institute coursework is completed ONLINE (two lessons per week). The coursework will be followed up with a 1.5-hour Weekly Coaching Session via a Zoom Call to answer questions and discuss each student's progress with practicum assignments. The coaching sessions will help to personalize this training.

Course Structure Weekly Schedule

To provide the best interaction and learning experience, our CROWN TRACK, with online coaching and guided study through the Ministry Institute, will be limited to 12 students.

WEEKLY SCHEDULE:

- Coursework: Sunday through Monday at the student's pace.
- Coaching: Monday nights, online via a Zoom call, from 7:00 PM—8:30 PM (EST).

COST:

There is no cost to participate in the CROWN TRACK. Access to the online portal for the class material is free as are the coaching sessions.

COMMITMENT

However, a student must miss no more than 4 coaching sessions to remain in the program. Successful completion of the weekly curriculum is also required, including the quiz at the end of each lesson and progressing through the practicums.

We anticipate that the Time Commitment will be between 2-3 hours to complete the coursework each week, plus the 1.5-hour coaching session on Monday nights
